WASHINGTON, July 11.—(AP)—Dwight Griswold, chief of the American aid mission to Greece, said today military supplies valued at $200,000 are en route to equip the Greek army and navy on an "anti-bandit" basis. Told a press conference that the equipment now moving to the United States ports for shipment is largely from United States army and navy surplus. It includes light mountain pack artillery, mules, food for troops, ammunition, and some trucks and jeeps.

Shipment of military supplies, scheduled to comprise half the $200,000 aid program, probably will continue into the fall, Griswold said.

China Reds Take Strategic Taian

(From the Edmonton Bulletin)

NANKING, July 11.—(AP)—Tainan dispatches indicated the order to the Red Army to take the strategic Taian on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad for the third time this year as Communist forces renewed their Shantung province offensive.

The government's central news agency said the Tainan garrison, 33 miles south of Tainan, "moved to Taian" in the face of "Red attacks" — the usual way of admitting a city.

Tainan has been a pawn in Communist-Government war manoeuvres in Shantung for several months. Neither side, in the past, made any serious effort to defend it, preferring to withdraw when it appeared that the enemy possessed superior strength.

Long Debate Collapses Ottawa Tax Pacts All But Approved

By George Kitchen

OTTAWA, July 11.—(CP)—A three-hour debate on Dominion-provincial financial relationships collapsed in the Commons last night and a government bill to implement taxation agreements with seven of the nine provinces was given all but the final touches of parliamentary approval.

ROLLING UP steadily in the late afternoon, debate on second reading evaporated suddenly when the house returned from dinner and the government bill quickly was approved in principle and its seven sections endorsed in committee of the whole. It now awaits final reading at a later sitting, probably Friday.

So rapidly did the parliamentary machinery operate once the discussion ended that Finance Minister Abbott, himself, had to ask the House to call a hall so he could reply to second reading speeches and move a minor amendment to one of the sections.

Then the Minister, who had been late coming into the chamber and had missed second reading, gave these responses to opposition statements and allegations made during the debate:

1. He took the "strongest exception" to charges that the Dominion were not surrendering the "slightest" of their constituency powers. Their taxing powers remained "intact" and they were merely renting to the Dominion taxation fields which some authorities held should be exclusively assigned to the federal government.
2. The Dominion government still could see no use in calling a Dominion-Provincial conference with no agenda upon which to confer. One would be called if Ontario and Quebec—two dissenting provinces—would indicate a basis for another such conference.
3. The Dominion's financial bill first of the way, the house gave initial reading to a measure to make provision for refunding and adjustment of the liability of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia in connection with federal loans made in the 1930s.

Several show-ups occurred, some being among the heaviest recorded this season. Accompanying the rain and lightning was heavy hail.

The heavy storm at Mundare covered a strip about four miles wide, passed right over the town. It lasted for about 15 minutes, and it gained intensity as the night fell.

The hail was accompanied by strong wind and a large rain storm which lasted all night. An unusual large amount of rain was also reported.

JOHN STEPCHUK, who has farmed in the district for more than 25 years, stated it was the worst storm he had ever seen and other residents were certain it was the worst ever in the district.

Some of the larger stones weighed as much as five ounces, but little damage to windows and buildings was comparatively little damage was done.

A number of other hail storms have hit the district during the last month, but comparatively little damage was done.

Other areas also reported severe rain and hail.

In the city lightning is reported to have struck a tree in front of 1121 9th street, while the wind blew in a window at the corner of 9th and 11th streets. Slight damage was suffered at Arthur Cloud's auction market, where a high board fence was blown down by the wind.

IN SEVERAL districts of the city, residents reported that the electric lights went out during several moments after each storm of lightning.

During last night, 30 in. of rain fell, out of which 23 in. of rain fell in a five-minute period. Wind, which accompanied the storm, increased to 43 miles per hour gusts. Edmonton is now for wide scattered thunderstorms and showers again tonight with winds becoming gusty up to 35 miles per hour. Skies will remain cloudy throughout today, becoming clear Saturday midnight. Rain showers are again expected Saturday afternoon but will clear by midnight. Temperatures will remain near normal.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 80 above at 4:30 p.m. and the overnight low registered 36 above at 1:30 a.m.

Estimated low temperature tonight is 48 above. Expected high temperature Saturday is 77 above.

In Southern Alberta, Calgary was hit by a severe electrical storm, with hail, and the stampede, as well as buildings at Victoria Park suffered.

Egypt Complaint

return of that territory to Egypt." Egyptian Prime Minister Mahmoud Nokrasy Pasha will come personally to argue Egypt's case when the council takes it up—probably within a week, officials said.

Mahmud Hassan Pasha, Egypt's ambassador to Washington, came here to present the formal complaint personally this morning to Acting UN Secretary General Acheson.

IT WAS SAID to be one of the hottest yet handed to the Security Council and was bound to have serious repercussions in another difficult case now before the United Nations—the problem of Palestine.

Egypt has held off filing the complaint against Britain for several months, reportedly because of the Arab states were fearful of alienating Britain too much before the UN assembly makes its recommendation on the fall on the future of Palestine.

Contents of the Egyptian complaint were not immediately available but the Egyptian ambassador said the case was advanced to meet the peace-keeping agreement under provisions of the "Pacific settlement" chapter of the UN charter.

THAT CHAPTER enables a country to bring to the Security Council and dispute or situation which is likely to endanger peace and security.

Hassan Pasha told reporters that Egypt was prepared to argue emphatically for the award to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan in Egypt.

Egypt and the Sudan are one, he said.

Britain has contended that the people of Sudan must be given a voice in determining the future status of the territory and so far has refused to relinquish its pre-dominant share in control of the Sudan.

every country in Eastern Europe has said "no," much with obvious reluctance to the British-French invitation to attend the Paris conference. Finland even Russia heavy reparations payments and has less freedom of choice than either Poland or Czechoslovakia was supposed to have had.

PRAGUE, July 11.—(AP)—Non-Communist Czechoslovakia took the view today that the Moscow-French collapse of the nation's freedom of economic independence clearly explained her position to the world.

THE LEFT WING press said the country's sudden withdrawal from the Paris European economic conference was dictated by a conviction that the talks were aimed at the economic isolation of the Soviet Union.

But the extent of outside pressure applied against Czechoslovakia—and other nations within the Soviet orbit—might never have come to light so clearly had it not been for Czechoslovakia's original acceptance of the Paris invitation before Communist Premier Klement Gottwald went to Moscow for consultation at the Kremlin.

Recreation Plans Favored by Youth

Recreation portion of the three-part program being offered this year by the Junior Service Bureau seems to be favored by young Edmonton, according to figures released by the bureau from its offices in the Recreation Centre, formerly the USO building.

Of the 80 students who have so far registered with the bureau, the majority have shown a decided preference for swimming, bike riding, basketball, and photography, offered under the recreation section of the bureau.

Many of the teen-agers are interested in service work, second part of the summer scheme. They would like special training in tourist service, canteen work, and junior leadership.

Third portion of the program using the bureau as a summer employment service for high school students, has not been as greatly utilized by students.

Some of those who have registered already have received jobs. Work is varied, from jobs in laundries to typing, household work, baby tending and car washing.

Dances will be held by the bureau every Saturday night at the Recreation Centre.

The Junior Service Bureau is sponsored jointly by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the City Recreation Commission, and the Edmonton Youth Assembly.

ALWAYS READY FOR HER MEALS

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as loss of appetite, stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamin A, B<sub>1</sub>, C, D, Riboflavin (B<sub>2</sub>), and Nicotin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substance—complete protein to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. If these acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child acts poorly, is thin, underweight, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

MEANING OF ELASTICITY

Those of you who play the violin know that the E string, which is often made of steel wire, will stretch quite a noticeable amount without breaking. Remember that the steel wire is made up of molecules. When it is stretched, the molecules are pulled slightly apart. It is not easy to pull the steel molecules apart. How difficult it you may judge by the force needed to stretch the wire even a little. If you relax the force, the wire goes back to its original length.

The steel wire is springy, or, in scientific language, it possesses elasticity. Elasticity lies to the viscous liquids. If you put two flat pieces of glass or metal together with a little water or oil between, you will find that it is almost impossible to pull them straight apart. Yet if you push sideways, one piece will slide easily over the other. This shows that although the molecules may be hard to pull directly apart, they roll or slide readily over one another.

Different liquids show this slipperiness in different degrees. A special name, viscosity, is used to describe it. A viscous liquid is one that changes its shape, or flows, slowly. Honey, molasses, and thick oil are good examples of viscous liquids.

Different oils have different amounts of viscosity; and viscosity changes with temperature. Oil when warm has smaller forces of Milk molecules move apart readily, and so milk streams from the bottle. But honey is a viscous fluid; its molecules do not separate directly, but slide forces the molecules together. The steel molecules can "give" just a little.

Elasticity is a very common property of solids, but all substances are not equally elastic; that is, they are not all return with the same readiness to their original places when the stretching forces are removed. Steel and quartz are among the most perfectly elastic or springy solids. We think of rubber as being very elastic. Actually rubber is rather poor in elasticity, for though it stretches easily a long way, it does not go back accurately to its original length.

The tensile strength of a substance is the force needed to break it by pulling. The tensile strength of steel is about 140,000 pounds for a bar one square inch thick.

Liquids also are elastic, though they cannot be tested by stretching, but by the opposite of stretching—by compressing them in strong containers. All liquids are very difficult to compress.

CHICAGO, July 11.—(UPI)—Bum, the terrier mascot in a great side fire station, has never missed a fire during her stay there, and did not intend to let a little detail like imminent motherhood stand in the way of her record. # Lauds British Health Program

One of the greatest events in the history of medicine occurred in Britain last April 1, asserted Dr. P. K. Kerr, Edinburgh, president of the Edinburgh branch of the British Medical Association, who spoke on "Nationalization of Medicine in Britain" at a Rotary Club luncheon in the Macdonald hotel Thursday.

He was speaking of the National Health Insurance Act which covers everyone in Britain, providing free benefits.

As soon as a person is employed, Dr. Kerr said, he is automatically insured. If he is under 16 years of age, no contribution is expected.

This act, he stated, was passed by the British Labor government. The measure is not a government scheme, but was proposed by the British Medical Association as far back as 1920.

The health act, he said, is highly # successful, and no one keeps a grudge toward it. However, there are a few doctors who object to the plan.

Speaking of Britain's attitude toward Russia, he said that before the end of the war, practically everyone in England was pro-Russian. That attitude has changed.

Dr. Roy L. Anderson acted as chairman at the meeting. The speaker's father-in-law, Mr. Justice Frank Ford, was a guest. A minute's silence was observed in tribute to the late J. G. McDougall and A. McCallum, members of the club who died recently.

Guesser States Flying Disks Big Spider Web

CHICAGO, July 11.—(CP)—A Chicago executive who offered a $1,000 reward for a flying disk or "the explanation" said yesterday he had received a variety of theories—including spider webs, "magnetic cyclones" and iceberg reflections.

The business man, E. J. Culligan, said he does not plan to pay the reward for any of the suggestions so far received.

A St. Louis man suggested the disks are "magnetic cyclones" and says he is on the verge of creating a man-made one but "we lack a proper magnet for the feeding end."

A Houston, Tex., man thought that the disks were reflections from a large iceberg in the Arctic or Anti Arctic (sic) ocean.

A man who put in no claim for the reward sent in this from Los Angeles:

"Dear Sir: I really flying disk (sic), hard to believe I do, but only a very (sic) large spider, and his web, the web in a large circle, the spider in the centre, he can change colors to suit, as he pleases, he can flutter his web, and fall through the air very fast."

See Hot Debate On Radio Report

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau OTTAWA, July 11.—A hot debate has been held in the House on the radio committee report when the estimates of the department of national revenue under supervision of Hon. J. J. McCann are reached. But there may also be some debate on the subject when Dr. McCann's resolution on the order passed today to give the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation the gross amount each year received from the $230 radio license comes in.

NO RESOLUTION has been brought in, and will be brought in by the government, for adoption of the radio committee's report. This has been the practice since the radio committee was set up. . . . that CBC members of the radio committee's recommendations and suggestions as a guide for its conduct under the wide legal authority CBC has always possessed.

There is growing objection among members of the House to the subject. Although the radio committee has 24 members with representatives of all parties on it, many others of the 145 members of the House feel that the opinion of the whole House should be formally expressed by a resolution on the report. . . . guidance of CBC, especially as a large minority of the members were far from in full sympathy with all the findings of the committee report.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the Canadian Association of Broadcasters also will raise the point that without sanction of the whole House the committee report has no legal standing whatever. Answer of the committee majority to this objection is that CBC already possesses full legal authority to do all the things, and more, suggested in the committee report, that the report is merely "permissive" and as such need not require adoption of a formal resolution. Also, that if the government sanctioned by resolution some of the suggestions, it could be normally obligated to bring in amendments to the radio broadcasting act which would make them obligatory on CBC.

Claim Hungarians Sold Into Slavery

OTTAWA, July 11.—(CP)—The Hungarian Mutual Affairs Committee of Windsor, Ont., in a brief presented to the government yesterday charged that thousands of Hungarians were being "sold as slaves in the open markets to the landowners" in Czechoslovakia and urged Canadian intervention, perhaps through the United Nations.

The brief was presented to External Affairs Minister St. Laurent and other government officials by Rev. Ladislav Hunyady, general secretary of the Hungarian Mutual Affairs Committee, Mike Sodo, secretary, Rev. Charles Steinmetz of Toronto, president of the United Canadian Hungarian Relief Association and Rev. Eugene Ruess, vice-president of that body which claims to embrace 600,000 Hungarian-Canadians.

Mr. Steinmetz, a Presbyterian minister, said Mr. St. Laurent had given them a sympathetic hearing and had accepted their brief, containing letters from Czechoslovakia telling of "terrible" conditions there, as evidence which the Canadian government might find useful should the matter be brought up in the UN councils.

The brief charged that when the Czechoslovakian republic was established by the allies, it was based on a map which was "fraudulent." After the Second World War the Czechoslovakian government decided to "re-settle" Hungarians to Moravia and Sudeten Land and under such resettling "the persecutions of the Hungarian minority began" and such unlawfulness is unknown in the history of any nation.

Hungarians had no citizenship;

Total Tops Two Billion Add $114 Millions To Ottawa Budget

OTTAWA, July 11.—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott yesterday tabled in the Commons supplementary estimates totaling $114 million for the fiscal year 1947-48, bringing to $2,116,967,853 the total estimated governmental expenditures for the current year.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY estimates cover expenses of government departments unforeseen when the main estimates were brought down several months ago.

The largest amount in the supplementary were expenditures by the departments of reconstruction and supply, external affairs and public works.

An extra $42,000,000 would be voted the reconstruction department. This sum includes $38,100,000 for housing developments and transportation subsidies on steel, iron and coal under such terms and conditions as may be approved by the government-in-council.

A total of $4,500,000 would be earmarked for the research and development of jet engines and aircraft.

THE ADDITIONAL vote to the external affairs department was $2,355,438. This includes a $200,000 grant toward post UNRRA relief in Europe and a $2,155,438 vote to the International Refugee Organization, previously announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The supplementary vote for the public works department of $1,919,992 to be used mainly for the repair and construction of public wharves and buildings. This would be in addition to the more than $40,000,000 voted for the department in the main estimates.

The justice department estimates included a sum of $17,000 to cover expenditures arising out of the Royal Commission investigation last year into the Russian-directed espionage activities in Canada.

Of the amount $15,000 was to provide for expenses in connection with espionage prosecutions and $60,000 to cover expenses incurred by the Royal Commission.

IN AN ADDITIONAL vote of $1,138,180 for the health and welfare department was a sum of $300,324 to provide for the medical inspection of immigrants. In the main estimates the amount set aside for this purpose was $165,382.

A finance department vote of $5,353,888 included $7,320 for the Canadian Olympic Association.

The transport department estimates included $800,000 for the construction of a ship to be used on the Eastern Arctic Patrol, now carried out by the veteran Nas.

Crop Conditions Are Good in West

OTTAWA, July 11.—(CP)—The numerical condition of spring wheat in Canada as at June 30, expressed as a percentage of the long-term average yield per acre, was 125 per cent, compared with 122 at the corresponding date last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

The numerical condition of all wheat, including spring and fall, also was 125 while the condition figure for oats was 88, barley 91, all ryegrass 87 and flaxseed 93.

Condition of the principal cereal crops in the three prairie provinces with June 30, 1946, percentages in brackets, follows:

Manitoba—spring wheat 128 (100); oats 92 (70); barley 92 (70); ryegrass 91 (75); flaxseed 91 (75). Saskatchewan—spring wheat 127 (123); oats 91 (87); barley 92 (84); ryegrass 88 (82); flaxseed 93 (92). Alberta—spring wheat 125 (127); oats 90 (96); barley 90 (96); ryegrass 92 (92); flaxseed 93 (94).

Reporting on conditions generally, the bureau said the condition of field crops across Canada was better for spring wheat, barley, spring ryegrass, flaxseed, hay and clover, alfalfa and pasture while all other crops were somewhat lower.

The moderate increase in spring wheat condition over last year was attributed to a "very marked" increase in Manitoba and a "moderate" increase in Saskatchewan. "Significant" advances are indicated for most coarse grains in Manitoba and Saskatchewan but elsewhere the situation is reversed, with a "very poor" outlook prevailing throughout the eastern provinces, particularly in Ontario.

In general, crop conditions were "quite favorable" in the four western provinces but the exceedingly late, wet spring has materially reduced prospects in eastern Canada.

British Tighten Atomic Secrecy

LONDON, July 11.—(Reuters)—The News Chronicle said today that the British government is tightening up measures to insure atomic secrecy.

The front-page article by the newspaper's science editor said that Home Secretary Chester Ede "has taken powers under statutory rules and orders (1947) declaring to be prohibited areas under the official secrets act of 1911 the atomic research establishments at Harwell, Oxfordshire, and the department of atomic energy at Risley, Lancs, and the ministry of supply factory at Springfield, Lancs."

"The order applies to information with respect to these stations or to the work in them which would be 'useful to the enemy,' the story said."

"This order has been unobtrusively introduced and extends the penalties applicable under the Atomic Energy Act of last year. Disclosure of atomic information under this act carries a penalty of five years imprisonment, but much more drastic sentences are exacted under the Official Secrets Act."

The article mentioned that under the new act, Dr. Alan Nunn, a British scientist, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment.

Mountbatten Is "Too Old" For Elizabeth

LONDON, July 11.—(CP)—The bespectacled young student intent on his book looked up in surprise when he was asked what he thought of "the engagement."

"What engagement?" he asked.

"Why Elizabeth's" said his travelling companion.

"Who's she marrying?"

"Mountbatten, of course."

The student looked thoughtfully out of the train window. Then he said slowly: "Mountbatten's a great man... but too old for Elizabeth."

Country's Stature Grows

Heavy Slate of Bills Marked House Sitting

By D'Arcy O'Donnell
OTTAWA, July 11—(CP)—Canada's growing stature in a restless post-war world and concern with uncertain economic problems at home headlined deliberations during the third session of the Dominion's 20th Parliament.

IN SHARP CONTRAST with pre-war years, the Commons and Senate dealt with a heavy slate of business relating to the international realm, most of it bills to implement the Dominion's undertakings under the United Nations charter to help in solving the problems arising from the making and the keeping of the peace.

In the domestic field, attention was focused on the economic ills of war and priority work to those measures on which the government felt it was necessary to continue for another year at least the many wartime controls clamped on rentals and the prices of a host of goods and services.

Barely had the session opened Jan. 30 when the government brought members up-to-date on its unsuccessful efforts to obtain an active role in the drafting of the German and Austrian peace bill, containing 37 orders-in-council under which price and rent controls were enforced during the war.

ANOTHER BILL continued the powers of the Canadian Wheat Board until 1950 to allow it to fill the 600,000,000-bushel, four-year wheat contract with the United Kingdom. Another continued boards established to purchase agricultural products for overseas shipments.

In the welfare field, there was a bill boosting the basic rate of old age and blind pensions from $22 to $30 a month. It also reduced from 40 to 21 years the eligible pension age for Canada's blind.

As is customary, financial and economic matters occupied a considerable portion of the membership. In a budget brought down April 26, Finance Minister Abbott announced that as from July nine out of ten tax payers would enjoy income tax reductions of about 20 per cent.

MR. ABBOTT ALSO announced that the excess profits tax would be repealed as from the end of this year.

He announced a surplus of $152,000,000 for the 1946-47 fiscal year and said he would complete the 1947-48 year with a surplus of $100,000,000 if taxation agreements were not concluded with Ontario and Quebec. If the two provinces joined the other six in signing agreements the surplus would be put to $80,000,000.

A bill ratifying agreements with six of the provinces was on the list of domestic legislation. Alongside was a bill providing for the refunding of relief debts built up by Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia during the depression years.

AN AGREEMENT between the federal and Alberta governments on steps to conserve and protect forest resources on the eastern slope of the Rockies was ratified. Also adopted was a bill easing the provisions of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

In fisheries, there was a bill providing for the appointment of a vice-chairman of the Fisheries Research Board.

Housing legislation was modified to encourage rental home building. A Dominion Coal Board was established to carry out recommendations of a royal commission which investigated the coal industry last year.

WHEN THE SESSION opened, representation in the Commons was split as follows: Liberals, 123; Progressive Conservatives, 81; CCF, 48; Social Credit, 13; Independent, four; Rice Populists, two; Independent Liberal, one; Independent Progressive Conservative, one; Independent CCF, one; L'Union des Electeurs, one, and vacant, two. The government's representation was increased by one, when Maurice Hart won a by-election in the Montreal Carleton seat that was declared vacant when its holder, Fred Rose, a Labor Progressive, was sentenced to six years in penitentiary on espionage charges. A by-election for the federal vacancy in Halifax is due July 14.

DESPITE ITS slim majority, the government seldom found itself in difficulty in divisions in the Commons. Opposition motions of non-confidence in the government were defeated by fairly comfortable margins at the conclusion of the throne and budget speech debates.

Summer School Enrolment Down

Enrolment at this year's university summer school season is down from last year, it was announced from the office of the registrar today. This year there are 1,334 students registered, whereas during the 1946 season there were 1,478.

Veteran students studying under IVVA credits comprise less than one-quarter of this year's enrolment. A total of 290 veterans are enrolled, an increase over last summer's 232.

In the past women students have far exceeded male students in numbers, but this year the male-female figures are almost equal. There are 685 women registered, and 649 men.

Princess Elizabeth Is To Be a Royal Bride With State Wedding in Westminster Abbey

By ARTHUR NETTLETON
A princess who was born in an ordinary house, and who will one day become a Queen, is to be a royal bride. Her name is Princess Elizabeth, whose earliest home was at 21, Bruton Street, London, and who as a baby was known all over the world as the "wee" Princess.

Growth-up now (she was 21 April 21 last), she is to have a state wedding in Westminster Abbey, London, when she marries Lt. Philip Mountbatten, formerly Prince Philip of Greece and Denmark. Not until the Princess was ten years old was it believed known that she would probably someday marry the British Crown. But right from the start, the Princess was brought up with that possibility in mind.

From Bruton Street she moved with her parents the Duke and Duchess of York, as King George and Queen Elizabeth were called, at that time to Number 145, Piccadilly, in London's Mayfair district. A special nursery, with light blue walls and its own little kitchen, was furnished for her. Here she began her schooling—first elementary subjects and then such things as geography and history. She had physical training and at London Bath Club she learned to swim.

There were "French afternoons" when she was expected to speak nothing but the French language, and there were little tea parties at which she entertained young friends and learned about being a perfect hostess.

Great treats were weekend visits to Windsor, where her mother and father had a country house in the great park surrounding Windsor Castle. The estate gave her fine opportunities to ride "Snowball," a lovely pony which she received as a birthday gift when she was six.

IN THE GROUNDS of her Windsor house were placed some of her other possessions. Chief among these was a fairy-tale carriage given to her by the people of Wales. Although it was only one-third the size of a full-sized carriage, it was just the right size for the "Wee" Princess and it is the only carriage which she has ever required. There was also a small furniture, a fully-equipped kitchen, a well-stocked larder, and of glass, and even electric light and running water.

It was not surprising that the growing Princess looked upon her Wednesdays as rewards for tea lessons well-learned in her London schoolroom. She now had a sister (Princess Margaret Rose) to share the delights of the Welsh cottage, and together they also made a very attractive garden just outside.

During longer holidays the two Princesses went to Balmoral House, in Scotland, or to Sandringham House, in Norfolk, where they had King George the Fifth (their Grandfather) to share their games. He showed them his collection of memorabilia from his overseas tours.

From time to time, as Princess Elizabeth grew, she was taken on sightseeing tours by her grandmother (Queen Mary). They visited the Tower of London and other historic places, both for an outing and to educate the Princess. Queen lessons took place in the Buckingham Palace kitchen, where Her Royal Highness learned to cook and bake.

When war broke out in 1939, she and her sister were sent from London to a place of safety, like thousands of other children in Britain. But the education of the Princesses did not stop. Their governess went with them, and their schooling and training continued.

TWO IMPORTANT events in Princess Elizabeth's life occurred in 1941. Firstly, she became officially "of age" and secondly, she joined with the Auxiliary Territorial Service, the women's branch of the British Army. She had already been a Girl Guide for several years and had run a canteen at Buckingham Palace. But this was the first time in British history that a royal princess had joined the British Services as an ordinary recruit.

In the A. T. S. Princess Elizabeth learned to drive a car, and she was taught how to repair the engine. One of her present duties is that she may shortly have a car of her own.

In the khaki uniform of the Army she also toured military stations and districts with her father, the King, to learn the next part of her royal duties—the job of performing public duties. Making speeches and taking part in public events, indeed will become more and more a part of her daily calendar in future years.

She has already undertaken several important engagements of that kind, including the launching of a ship, before she set out with the King and Queen for South Africa last January.

On her 21st birthday, last April, she was named to the succession as the third in line to the throne. On that day, the three royal daughters handed over to King George the Fifth the keys of the Third Mary's year.

State weddings and Princess Elizabeth's life. One of the duties reserved for British sovereigns and their heirs is to perform marriages. The King grants a sum to cover the cost. Other British royal weddings are paid for by the state, but the expenses being met privately.

THERE ARE many rules, traditions and customs which will have to be met when the heiress to the throne is married. The Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the King's chaplains, will arrange the religious ceremony, and the Master of the King's Music will be called upon to compose special anthems for the Westminster Abbey choir.

Various other departments of the royal household will look after further details. Among the committees with special rights is the constitutionally named Board of Green Cloth. It gets that title because its members round a table covered with green baize. Their main job will be to arrange the wedding breakfast.

The invitations to guests, however, will be sent out by the Lord Chamberlain, whose everyday duties concern all court events. The marriage certificate will be written entirely by hand, on a sheet of vellum, and it will take at least a week to prepare this important document. It will be executed by the seal of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The British royal marriage register, on the other hand is kept at St. James's Palace, London. It is a large volume, bound in maroon leather, and each entry has to be witnessed and signed by more than twenty people of high rank. Perhaps the oddest fact about the wedding will be the strict observance of some rules dating back hundreds of years. One of these stipulates that a princess's wedding veil must not hide her face on any day. It was feared that the royal bride might be kidnapped and another take her place.

So her features had not to be covered by her veil. Although the precaution is no longer necessary, the regulation is still enforced when British royal brides go to the altar.

In Princess Elizabeth's case, the old tradition will probably be used if she puts her veil aside for a few moments just before the most important part of the ceremony in Westminster Abbey.
